JUNE 21, 2017: FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Looking for the perfect ending to that August fun-in-the-sun weekend? Look no further than Rehoboth's own Clear Space Theatre! On Sunday, August 6, at 9:00 PM, Clear Space will be hosting WELL-STRUNG, as they return to Rehoboth Beach. Don't miss an opportunity to see and hear this amazing string quartet, whose unique fusion of pop and classical music caused the New York Daily News to gush that these "fetching fiddlers" are "The hottest things with a bow since Jennifer Lawrence in 'The Hunger Games!'"

Clear Space Theatre's Board Chair, Carl Schloegel – an enthusiastic audience member at previous WELL-STRUNG concerts – concurs: "We are incredibly excited to bring WELL-STRUNG back to a Rehoboth Beach stage! Previous performances at CAMP Rehoboth and the Rehoboth Convention Center have been sell-outs, and we're sure this year's concert will be just as popular – and, if possible, even more entertaining! There just can't be a better way to wrap up a weekend at the beach than to sit back and enjoy as WELL-STRUNG romps its way through an evening of classical-pop fusion."

The foursome includes Edmund Bagnell (first violin), Christopher Marchant (second violin), Daniel Shevlin (cello) and Trevor Wadleigh (viola). Their eclectic appeal has garnered invitations to perform at the Vatican, the House of Blues in New Orleans and a gala for then-President Obama. Release of their viral music video, "Chelsea's Mom," led to a special-request performance for Hillary Clinton. They have performed with equally widely-ranging artists, including Neil Patrick Harris, Audra McDonald, the San Francisco and New York City Gay Men's Choruses, and Joe Jonas.

Steve Elkins, Executive Director of CAMP Rehoboth and host to previous Rehoboth Beach appearances of the group, was thrilled to learn of WELL-STRUNG'S return: "We are so excited to hear that WELL-STRUNG will be back in Rehoboth! Their unique mix of classical and pop music – all brilliantly played and sung – makes for an incredibly entertaining concert experience. And Clear Space is the perfect venue – large enough to hold a crowd, but small enough to provide the sense of intimacy that perfectly fits the performance."

Tickets for the August 6 concert range from $35 for general reserved seats to $75 for front row/side seats to $100 for front row/center seats, and are available online at www.clearspacetheatre.org or by calling the box office at 302-224-2270.
